LoeschPack restructures management level

(Altendorf, 4/10/2025) - Loesch Verpackungstechnik GmbH + Co KG announces a restructuring of its management level. Andreas Behrens will hand over the position of Chief Technology Officer (CTO) to Dr. Ferdinand Schwarzfischer, the previous Head of Research and Development, on April 1, 2025.

In his new role as CTO, Dr. Schwarzfischer will be responsible for the management of service, design, automation technology and development. The 39-year-old mechanical engineer studied mechanical engineering at RWTH Aachen University and completed his doctorate at the Institute of Mechanism Theory, Machine Dynamics and Robotics in the field of energy-efficient motion systems. Before his move, Dr. Schwarzfischer was Head of Research and Development at LoeschPack. During this time, his focus was on the development of new machines and the further development of digitalization and system technology.

As CTO, Dr. Schwarzfischer complements the existing management team, which includes Olaf Piepenbrock (Managing Partner), Thomas Czioska (CSO) and Sebastian Göpfert (COO). Andreas Behrens will remain with the company as a strategic consultant and deputy managing director.

Olaf Piepenbrock comments: "With Dr. Schwarzfischer we are gaining an experienced technology expert for our management team. His extensive expertise will help us to further strengthen our innovative power and expand LoeschPack's technological leadership position."
